SMALL BUSINESS NEWS

UR program targets youthful entrepreneurs

University of Rochester's Young Entrepreneurs Academy is accepting applications from students in grades six through 12 who want to learn how to run their own business.

Full scholarships to attend the yearlong program will be awarded to 30 students. In addition to UR, students will have the option to take the courses at State University College at Geneseo.

David Mammano, founder of Next Step Magazine, will be one of the instructors in Rochester.

The deadline to register is July 23. To download applications, go to www.rochester.edu/osp or call (585) 275-2344.
